

BRIEF TO KELOWNA COUNCIL

NO COMMITMENT YET

$450,000 Indoor Swimming Pool Proposed

A 50-meter indoor swimming pool—with an estimated price tag of $450,000—was proposed for Kelowna Monday.

The 10-member Kelowna and District Indoor Swimming Pool Society presented the city council with a detailed brief which was two years in the preparation stage.

The society left a site decision up to the council, but did detail the need and possible uses of an indoor pool.

Using a slide projector to illustrate his presentation, society chairman Dr. G. N. Stewart said the society resulted from those, generally interested in providing improved recreation facilities for Kelowna and district residents. He said the society met monthly since April, 1965, to study the indoor pool project, which has been reviewed by many citizens during the past 10 to 15 years.

MORE LEISURE
The $450,000 cost figure was based on a 50-meter indoor pool in Montreal. The brief said construction costs vary from area to area and keep increasing.

Dr. Stewart said there were four such pools in Canada, with at least 10 more in various stages of development.

The brief noted the national increase in leisure time and the need to use this time constructively to "improve the physical and moral fibre of our nation."

The outcome of this, said the brief, depends to a large extent on recreation opportunities offered in community life.

The brief offered two alternatives to the 50-meter pool: a 25-meter indoor pool, opening onto another 25-meter pool outdoors. (This might be constructed over several years as part of a recreation complex); or multiple tank pools, or causeway divided pools.

The best way to finance the pool, Dr. Stewart said, was through a money bylaw. There was no indication how much of the $450,000 would have to be raised through the bylaw, since donations toward the project could be expected.

The brief suggested the project could be done under the winter works project, with a 15 per cent labor cost saving. Bond financing was questioned for several reasons, but local service club participation was considered a strong possibility.

NO COMMITMENTS
The society asked the council to commit itself in favor and consider using qualified personnel for further studies. Dr. Stewart felt the society brief represented about 50 per cent of the work required in a feasibility study.

While most of the council appeared to favor the proposal, there was no commitment made, because of the need for participation by the Central Okanagan Regional District.

Dr. Stewart was told the regional district board would be elected Dec. 9 and would begin activities early in January.

The society was urged to approach the district council, gain its support, then return to the Kelowna city council.

the pool would be a district undertaking approval would have to be gained from all ratepayers in the Central Okanagan.

Ald. J. W. Bedford suggested getting a better idea of how much money was involved, but he was told the $450,000 figure was the most accurate and realistic amount. The alderman felt all aspects of the proposal should be examined before the city committed itself.

Ald. D. A. Chapman said he thought the society was seeking city consideration on the $450,000 figure.

including a swimming pool. The council has talked about locating such a complex adjacent to the industrial area on Highway 97, east of the city.

Ald. Chapman agreed with Ald. Wilkinson that any financing should take in the whole district.

Mayor Parkinson, who said Kelowna swimmers were now using Vernon's indoor pool, said if the society sold the regional district council on the idea the Kelowna council would probably "be sympathetic" toward another society presentation to council members.

Prince Rupert, 25-meters, $150,000; West Vancouver, 25-meters, $178,349; Montreal, 50-meters, $385,000; Red Deer, 50-meters, $115,000 and North Vancouver, 25-meters, $153,000. The brief said some of these projects were completed as part of recreation centres. There was some indication this could considerably reduce construction costs for the actual pool.

Total operational costs for a 25-meter pool were listed as about $35,000 annually, for such things as a pool manager, lifeguards, equipment and daily operations.

POLICE BOAT TO PATROL ALL OKANAGAN

(Courier Photo)

The long-awaited RCMP patrol boat has arrived in Kelowna from Expo and should be in the water on Lake Okanagan today. Equipment for the boat has been arriving during the past week, but no word had been received on when the boat would arrive. The craft replaces the 15-foot

35-horsepower outboard craft which began patrols this summer. The new boat will patrol the entire lake. A corporal and a constable from the marine division of the RCMP will arrive in May to man the boat, with twin 250 hp inboard outboard engines with a top speed of 28 knots.

Orbital Missile Seen In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union showed off today six new weapons, including a huge intercontinental ballistic missile, and also hauled through Red Square an orbital missile. The occasion was the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

While boasting of Soviet weapons, defence Minister Andrei A. Grechko warned that the war in Vietnam causes "deep alarm." He attacked the United States, accusing it of conducting "a criminal war."

Claiming "the most up-to-date weapons," Grechko then reviewed from Lenin's tomb a parade of Soviet military might from cavalry units of 50 years ago to modern superpower weaponry.

shown missile that has been claimed capable of striking from orbit.

Another new missile, with two stages hooked together, appeared to have a range of between 100 and 1,000 miles, and a new tactical missile was shown with a possible striking distance of 100 to 200 miles.

NAVAL MISSILE

The Soviet Navy showed a small, solid-looking missile with a blunt nose that probably is designed for launching underwater.

Long silver anti-aircraft missiles appeared on a tracked carrier as a new weapon. Official commentaries, apparently referring to a nuclear-warhead missile shown in earlier parades, claimed an ability to knock down clusters of enemy planes.

Supreme Court Unanimous On Natural Resources Bid

OTTAWA (CP) — British Columbia's claim to offshore mineral rights was rejected today in a unanimous opinion handed down by the Supreme Court of Canada.

The court said mineral and other natural resources under the territorial sea and on the continental shelf off the West Coast are the sole property of the federal government.

Replying to five questions put to it by the cabinet, the seven-member court panel said Canada alone has the right to explore and exploit these resources and holds legislative jurisdiction over them.

B.C., supported by Ontario, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Newfoundland, argued before the court last March that provincial property rights extend into the exploitable seabed.

rights from British colonial times. Last December the B.C. cabinet passed an order declaring provincial ownership over the Pacific continental shelf. At that time Prime Minister Pearson said the decision of the Supreme Court would take precedence over the B.C. action.

Although the B.C. case was designed to test the entire issue between Ottawa and the provinces, lawyers for Ontario, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Newfoundland claimed it would require separate arguments to judge the claims of the others.

At stake are potential millions of dollars in royalties from oil and mineral finds under the sea. No major discovery has yet been made, but both Ottawa and the provinces have been issuing overlapping permits for oil exploration along both coasts.

The 35-page opinion, handed down by Chief Justice John R. Cartwright, dealt separately with the territorial sea, which extends three miles from shore, and the continental shelf beyond it.

Sovereign State Of Canada Has Sole Exploitation Power

It said jurisdiction over the territorial sea was originally sovereign state of Canada that has the right to explore and exploit these lands, and Canada has exclusive legislative jurisdiction in respect of them under the British North America Act.

Donald Brothers, B.C.'s minister of mines and petroleum resources, said the decision "will affect us materially in revenue."

The province had already issued 168 permits worth $2,700,000 in oil and gas exploration permits off the West Coast. The permits cover 13,937,410 acres.

Minister Refuses To Name Any 'Rotten' CBC Managers

OTTAWA (CP) — State Secretary Judy LaMarsh refused again Monday to disclose names or specify charges in her claim that the CBC suffers from "rotten management" in many areas.

And Paul Hellyer, transport minister and acting prime minister through much of Monday's Commons sitting, gave strong indication that Miss LaMarsh will stand or fall on her own in her dispute with the publicly-owned CBC.

"She has taken this on in her responsibility as a member of the government and I do not think anything I could say would be useful," Mr. Hellyer said.

Miss LaMarsh, who reports to Parliament on a broadcasting matters, turned aside a series of questions seeking amplification of her "rotten management" statement.

Stanfield Can Leave His Perch And Alight In Commons Seat

TRURO (CP) — Robert Stanfield goes back to Ottawa today, armed with an overwhelming mandate to abandon his perch in the public gallery in the House of Commons.

With an easy byelection victory over two independents in the Nova Scotia riding of Colchester-Hants Monday, the national Progressive Conservative chief can assume his duties of opposition leader on the floor of the House Nov. 15.

The 53-year-old former Nova Scotia premier has been guiding the Tories from the gallery since September, with Michael Starr acting as Conservative House leader.

Mr. Stanfield, with 92 per cent of the vote, received an unofficial 15,901 votes to 1,146 for independent Liberal Robert Kirk of Truro and 238 for independent Elwood Smith of Sudbury, Ont. He was one of two Conservatives elected in three federal byelections Monday.

PC Doug Caston was elected in Alberta's Jasper-Edson while Charles R. Granger, minister without portfolio in Prime Minister Pearson's cabinet, was elected for the Liberals in Newgate riding.

Current Commons standings are Liberal 132, PC 85, NDP 22, Creditist 8, Social Credit 4, independent 3, vacant 1. The byelection was called after Cyril Kennedy resigned the Colchester-Hants seat he held since 1957 to give Mr. Stanfield a chance to gain a Commons seat.

NO SET STRATEGY

The party chief, elected in September to succeed John Diefenbaker, said in an interview he has no particular strategy mapped out for his debut as opposition leader. He planned "only to continue with the work of the opposition."

"An important part of our job is to subject the government to careful scrutinizing and criticism where that is deserved."

Both Mr. Kirk and Mr. Smith said in post-election interviews they plan to call for inquiries into Monday's voting.

Mr. Kirk alleged "irregularities at several polling offices and said he was going to write a letter to J. M. Hamel, chief electoral officer."

Glue-Sniffing Kits 'Sold To Children'

TORONTO (CP) — Stores here are selling glue-sniffing kits to children, a Toronto Board of Education trustee said in an interview Tuesday.

The charge was made by Alan Archer, who is conducting a private study of glue-sniffing in schools. "The police are powerless to act because there is no law against the sale of glue or controlling the toxic component in it," Mr. Archer said.

U.S. Launches New Surveyor

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (Reuters) — The United States today launched another Surveyor space shot designed to take a closer look at a possible astronaut landing site right in the middle of the moon's face.

Sixth in the Surveyor series, the latest unmanned satellite is a robot chemist with a revolving camera eye. Its mission is to analyse soil on a crater-pocked lunar plain so rugged the spacecraft was given less than a 50-50 chance of landing safely Thursday after a 65-hour journey.

Riding atop an Atlas-Centaur rocket, Surveyor VI shot away from a Cape Kennedy launch pad at 2:30 a.m. EST.

Surveyor VI is to make a soft-landing in the rocky crater filled Sinus Medii (Central Bay) almost in the dead centre of the moon's visible surface.

A successful landing would break the even-number jinx in the Surveyor program.

Surveyors I, III and V, successfully soft-landed on the lunar surface. Surveyors II and IV failed.

CHANCES MINIMAL
Surveyor program manager Benjamin Milwitzky gave the spacecraft only a 47-per-cent chance of a safe soft-landing on the moon in this rough area.

"There is a significant increase in risk in this mission," he said before the launch. "It is much rougher than the Sea of Tranquility or Ocean of Storms where the other Surveyors landed, there are many craters of all sizes and also rocks. Furthermore, we don't have a pilot to manoeuvre the spacecraft to a smooth spot in the moon terrain."

Walkout Of Postal Workers Starts To Spread In Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Mailmen stayed off their jobs in Hamilton today in a move to back 77 mailmen who began a work stoppage Monday in St. Catharines. Workers in Niagara Falls reported for work as usual, but several other southern Ontario communities were expected to be without mail deliveries today.

Members of the Canadian Letter Carriers Union local 17 in St. Catharines quit work to protest the suspension of Robert Embury, the local's secretary, for allegedly holding up mail delivery to help another mailman with a heavy load.

Alex Edey, president of Local 3 in Hamilton, told a meeting of union officials Monday night in Hamilton that 600 postal workers in southern Ontario would stay off work beginning at 5 a.m.

167,000 People Each Day Join World Population

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The world's population increased by an average of 167,000 persons a day in the year up to mid-1966 when it reached a total of 3,356,000,000, says the United Nations Demographic Yearbook to be published Sunday.

The mid-1966 total was 61,000,000 higher than at the same period a year previous and if it continues to increase at its present rate of about 1.9 per cent it is expected the world population will have doubled by the year 2005.

The yearbook, 18th in a series issued by the statistical office of the UN since 1948, says nearly three-quarters of the earth's population lives in the so-called underdeveloped regions, with one-half the total on the Asian continent.

The global death rate during the first half of the 1960s was around 16 per 1,000 population. However, the death rate for the underdeveloped regions alone was more than double the rate for the quarter of the earth's inhabitants living in the developed areas.

The book says the birth rate averaged 40 for each 1,000 population in underdeveloped countries in the 1960-64 period compared with 21 for each 1,000 in developed countries.

Although Canada's population has since passed 20,000,000, the book lists its population as of June 1, 1966 at 19,919,000.

It shows Canada as having one of the lowest rates of population density on earth, the fastest-growing marriage rate and 14th among countries with the lowest infant mortality rates.

Statistics on infant mortality showed Sweden had the best rate with 13.3 deaths in the first year of life for each 1,000 live births. Canada's figure was 23.1 deaths, marking a gradual yearly decline from 31.9 in 1956.

Canada led the way in the trend toward higher marriage rates with 155,280 marriages recorded in 1966 representing the largest number ever in Canada and an increase of 6.5 per cent over figures given for 1965. There was a 3.7 rate of increase in marriages in Britain and a three-per-cent increase in the U.S.

The highest annual rate of population growth—3.5 per cent—was in the Middle Americas while the lowest annual rate of increase—0.6 per cent—was found in Eastern Europe. The rate for Canada was 1.9.

Life expectancy has increased sharply in recent decades, the book says. In Canada, based on 1960-62 figures, the expectancy for males is 68.35 years, for females 74.17. The U.S. expectancy is 68.8 and 73.7, respectively.

Although on average females outlive males, in Canada males outnumber females by 10,032,600 to 9,886,400 on the basis of the 1966 figures. In almost all brackets up to age 40, the males dominate. The exception is the bracket 25 to 29 years, in which there are slightly more women.

Ceremony And Cannon's Roar Mark Parliament's Birthday

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament celebrated the 100th anniversary Monday of the first parliamentary sitting in the Dominion of Canada.

While most of the day's debate was devoted to broadcasting, the Commons paused at the outset of the sitting to hear statements by the prime minister and other party spokesmen marking the centennial.

Then, in a ceremony evoking the atmosphere of a parliamentary opening, Chief Justice John R. Cartwright rode to Parliament Hill in a horse-drawn carriage, reviewed a guard of honor as cannon boomed, and entered the Senate.

As deputy for Governor-General Michener, who is visiting Western Canada, the chief justice of the Supreme Court of Canada gave royal assent to several bills.

Mr. Justice Cartwright said the parliamentary system inherited from Britain "stands unchallenged as the most successful method of democracy."

Earlier, in the Commons, Prime Minister Pearson spoke of the centennial as "the most important occasion in our history, the day the great Canadian parliamentary debate began."

Defence Minister Cadieux, senior Quebec minister in the cabinet, said the anniversary is an opportunity "for the formulation of an act of faith in our parliamentary institution and in the future of our country."

He said national unity "is the only valid choice before us."

Michael Starr, the interim Opposition leader, endorsed Mr. Cadieux' statement about national unity, saying Canada must be protected "against those who would surrender it to division."

New Democratic Leader Douglas said the one common purpose uniting members of all parties is "the desire for a united and vibrant Canada."

Use Of Gunboats Urged To Guard 12-Mile Limit

Canada should use gunboats if necessary to enforce her new 12-mile limit on territorial waters, MP Ron Basford told the annual meeting of New Westminster Liberal Association Monday night. He urged the federal government to press for a United Nations conference on Canada's enlarged territorial waters and fishing zones to gain international acceptance.

"Don't price yourself out of the tourist market," Recreation Minister Kiernan told British Columbia Motel and resort operators meeting Monday in Victoria. Mr. Kiernan said B.C. must establish a reputation for fair-dealing and fair-pricing as well as hospitality to keep pace with the increasingly competitive tourist industry.

Liberal MP Grant Deachman said Monday the federal government should "pack up the CBC" and leave commercial broadcasting to the private network. Mr. Deachman, a Vancouver public relations man, said in the Commons the country does not need the CBC to rerun old movies nor to turn over its prime time to screen United States shows.

Canada should stop trying to be a "poor man's U.S.A.," and find a national cause to replace Expo 67, Philippe de Gaspe Beaubien, director of operations at the world's fair, said Monday in Montreal.

Warnings Urged About Smoking

OTTAWA (CP) — The government should require cigarette makers to air messages pointing out the dangers of cigarette smoking, NDP member Barry Mathers told the Commons Monday night.

Mr. Mathers (New Westminster) suggested in a Commons adjournment debate Canada could follow the lead of the United States in ordering broadcasters to carry such messages.

Eventually, he said, the cigarette companies might reduce their advertising as they found that they were subsidizing an anti-smoking campaign.

MR. CADIEUX

The defence department is investigating the possibility of additional security measures at the Minto armories following the Oct. 29 robbery of arms from the Minto armories at Winnipeg, Defence Minister Cadieux said in the Commons Monday.

Glue-sniffing is a more serious problem than marijuana smoking, in Metropolitan Toronto schools, says Alan Archer, a school trustee. Mr. Archer told the Toronto board of education Monday that glue-sniffing is more lethal because the damage is permanent. "Parents should be worried sick."

Britain's worst train wreck in a decade was blamed tentatively Monday on a broken rail joint that had passed inspection two days before the crash. The list of dead from the derailment in South London rose to 54, with six of the 136 injured passengers rated dangerously ill. Transport Minister Barbara Castle told Parliament: "The cause seems to be a fracture at a joint of a rail that was laid only last year, but this will have to be established by the formal inquiry."

Sentencing for Hugh Travers, 25, of Scarborough, Ont., on a marijuana possession charge was deferred to Nov. 17 in Montreal during a day in court which featured testimony by the head of the narcotics control section of the department of national health and welfare. Travers has been convicted of having over 13 pounds of marijuana in his possession in a suitcase when arrested by RCMP officers in a west-end motel Oct. 10, and development.

Charge And Counter Charge Mark Timbrell Adoption Case

PRESTON, Ont. (CP) — A psychiatric case worker, whose report accused Mrs. Arthur Timbrell of psychopathic behavior, has been under psychiatric care herself, a judicial inquiry was told Monday.

The inquiry, under Judge Harry Waisberg, was ordered by Premier John Roberts after two foster children were removed from the Timbrell home by police and Children's Aid Society officials after Mrs. Timbrell refused to give them up Sept. 28.

Ruth Conley, of the Waterloo County Children's Aid Society, assessed Mrs. Timbrell as a psychopath and was a key in the refusal to allow the adoption of Peggy, 5, and Valerie, 2, society officials said.

Thomas B. O'Neill of Toronto, lawyer for Mrs. Timbrell, suggested the society should have known that one of its case workers had mental problems and had been under psychiatric treatment.

Wilson Hunsberger, director of the Waterloo Society, said he knew Mrs. Conley was in the midst of a divorce action, but said he was not aware she was being treated by two psychiatrists.

SUSPENDS QUESTIONING Judge Waisberg stopped further questioning on the subject, but it is believed Mrs. Conley will be recalled later.

When Mrs. Timbrell went into the witness box, she admitted that in 1961 her son Rodney, 22, had been convicted on five counts of forgery and had been sent to a reformatory.

The inquiry also heard that another son, Wayne, 21, was once convicted of contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile after photographing a nude female adolescent.

John O'Driscoll, commission-counsel, also introduced evidence showing that Rodney was charged in March, 1968, with breaking and entering, but had failed to appear in court. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest.

"As far as I know, that bench warrant is still outstanding," Mr. O'Driscoll said.

Mr. Hunsberger said he became concerned that the Timbrell home was inappropriate for adoption when he heard of all the offences that had been committed by the family.

No mention was made of the psychiatric tests of Mrs. Timbrell, which prompted an adjournment of the inquiry last week.

The hearing continues.

today don't worry — your ears are not failing. There was no such mishap. Actually these vehicles form a "metallic mountain" at the City of Kelowna's sanitary landfill project on the "back route" to Winfield. Sharp-eyed re-ders may spot the rear end of a 1958 car at the bottom of the pile, a car which had a short history and life span.

FRUIT OFFICIALS SAY

Meral In Apples; 'Not Local Fault'

Rumors that bits of razor blades, pins and other foreign bodies could be introduced into apples in packing houses was denied today by an official of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.

"It would be almost impossible for foreign bodies to be introduced into apples leaving the industry packing houses," a spokesman for the B.C. apple growers said.

"Rigid government and industry inspection of fruit, as required by provisions of the Canada Agricultural Products Standards Act would reveal any surface puncturing of the fruit."

Reports of foreign bodies found in apples handed out at Halloween were received from Ottawa, Toronto and Cloverdale.

SWIMMING POOL PROPOSAL

Following were the society brief's points on the needs for such a pool:

"The maximum possible in recreation facilities for the minimum expenditure of public funds is the goal of a carefully prepared recreational program."

"In designing and building a community recreation center, our research has shown it is wise to start with a particular recreational unit which will appeal most to the community and which will be self-sufficient as possible. The unit is usually a swimming pool."

"As cities and suburbs have grown, so have the needs for public swimming places. More swimmers than ever are using public pools. Large numbers of non-swimmers come to pools for sun-bathing or cooling."

"These facts necessitate new problems of design and efficiency."

Working with a 1966 Kelowna population of 16,852, the society predicted a 1971 city population of more than 23,500.

ALL AGES A survey was conducted among all city age groups, asking if the people favored a pool, the ages of their children, how many adults would use the pool and the age bracket of adults contacted.

In the city 1,455 people favored the pool, 52 said no and 54 were unsure. In the Okanagan Mission area 125 people said yes, two said no and three were not sure. In the rural district 195 people in the random sampling said yes, seven said no and 30 were unsure. Totals for the survey were 1,775 in favor, 61 unsure and only 77 against.

SIX SUPPORT The brief stressed the need for civic-district-school board co-operation in establishing an education program.

The society also outlined a possible daily program, featuring a minimum of two public swim sessions each day, lasting at least two hours, with public swimming all day Saturdays and Sundays.

Support in principle came from six Kelowna clubs, the Gyros, the Boys Club, the Lions, the Kiwanis, the Kiwanis and the Rotary club.

The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society noted the usefulness of such a pool.

A related letter, from the Kelowna Okanagan Swim Club parents' group was referred to the parks and recreation commission. The letter recommended a 25-meter, outdoor pool, to be constructed east of the Raymer Elementary School in time for the 1968 season.

The optimum condition for swimming in this area during the past summers has yielded six seasons of approximately six weeks, during which time heavy use of instruction facilities were needed. Swimming instruction in Kelowna and district, in a six to eight week course in our lake, in unpredictable weather, put through 1,184 people in 1966. This includes pre-school and school ages. Are the upper grades dependent due to the lack of facilities? This number that is given swimming instruction in the summer shows no use of the skill or opportunity to increase their new learned skill after the summer due to lack of facilities.

The brief listed possible recreation facilities as: family participation, a water sports program, adult get-and-keep fit classes, organization swim groups, water aerobics, festivals and events and youth swimming.

Listed as possible education facilities were: student physical education classes, Red Cross water safety programs, learn to swim classes, swimming and diving classes and skin and sun diving.

The brief said there were no cumulative or established rules to accurately predict a pool size or attendance, but points for consideration were:

- density of the neighborhood
- availability of swimming in the area.

- existing sport facilities.
- climate conditions.
- accessibility.
- competition from other pools.

W. J. R. Green, advertising information services manager for the grower marketing agency, said he was referring to a statement made recently by Winnipeg police chief George Blow, who suggested insertion of foreign materials found in apples handed out at Halloween night could have occurred at the producer level.

"It is almost impossible to say which specific apples shipped by our industry will be eventually used for Halloween, as we do not pack a special box for this purpose," Mr. Green said.

"Apples handed out at Halloween could come from any of the more than 1,000,000 boxes we shipped to date from this year's crop."

"We have shipped to more than 40 world markets and have not received a single complaint of this nature."

"We share the general abhorrence at these isolated incidents and fervently hope the perpetrators will be quickly identified," Mr. Green said.

Youth Fined After Mishap

A Kelowna youth was fined $85 in magistrate's court today for driving without a licence and having no insurance.

Lloyd Thomas was involved in an accident Oct. 28 on the East Kelowna Road after he struck a utility pole while trying to loosen a stuck gas pedal in the car he was driving.

Henry Bauert of Westbank was fined $35 for failing to confine his vehicle to the right side of the road. Bauert had pleaded not guilty to the charge and a trial was held Oct. 24. Magistrate D. M. White said there was no reason for Bauert to swing so far to the left to avoid a pedestrian on the right side of the road.

Norman Peterson of Rutland was fined $25 for speeding Feb. 24 in Haney. He failed to appear in answer to two summonses and a warrant had been issued for his arrest. Peterson was arrested Friday for impaired driving and convicted of the offense in court Monday.

There are 26 regional hospital districts in the province, each governed by a board of directors. The same membership will perform the functions of a regional district board.

Each of the 26 units has a balanced population and tax base and is centered around a municipality. The Central Okanagan Regional District is centered around Kelowna and has eight electoral areas included.

Each municipality has automatic membership on the board of directors, one of its council members. Each electoral area will vote for its director Dec. 9 and the members will take office for two year terms Feb. 1. The voting power of each director on the board is decided on a population basis. Any property owner in an electoral area may stand for election.

A regional district can be a policy-making body but any activity undertaken is subject to a vote by people receiving a service.

One of the functions of a regional district could be taking over the work of the existing regional planning board, and expanding of the planning activity to include the whole of the regional districts, "acting behind the scenes" of the regional districts.

Another function, Mr. Woodward said, is handling building regulations and land use, under the control of the provincial government.

Two or more areas might join to finance such services as garbage disposal, fire protection or an ambulance service.

Municipalities and areas might co-operate through a regional district to provide a service outside the municipality, recreation centres, a park scheme or fire services.

A regional district could act as a form of government, between the provincial and municipal level. It could act as a local council, providing street lighting for a community.

If a small community in an electoral area wanted street lighting, the residents approach their elected representative, who brings the request to the board. If approved, the board holds an election in the community concerned. If a majority vote is obtained, the board reaches an agreement with the hydro officials, the work is done and the money is reflected in the amount of taxes paid by the people in that community.

For large projects, the board can raise its own money, in the same manner a municipality does. A budget is submitted to Victoria yearly.

The provincial government does not guarantee bonds except for hospital costs.

Mr. Woodward said at the moment regional boards have no authority to deal with planning matters, to do so the areas must agree in writing to enter that field.

All actions of the board are subject to Victoria's approval. Bylaws can be formulated by the board, but Victoria remains as the ultimate authority. Once approved by Victoria, the regional board has the authority to act.

Regional districts have no jurisdiction over school matters, Mr. Woodward said.

Dog Complaint Investigated

Police are investigating complaints about dogs bothering district elementary school children.

The dogs, particularly in the area of South Kelowna elementary, bring their lunch to school. Police say some of the children are afraid to go outside to play during recess because of the dogs.

No children have been bitten. According to the Sheep Protection Act, "it is lawful for any person to kill any dog without a licence." The Domestic Animal Act states any dog at large can be destroyed.

Apple Polishing Does No Harm For Okanagan

A little apple polishing is never amiss and in the fruit industry it's really paying off. Packinghouses are installing waxing machines to coat apples so they will retain their freshness and high polish for a longer period.

Three waxing systems were installed in Kelowna last year and another three packinghouses followed the lead this year.

Those installing waxers this year include the Cascade Co-op Union, Kelowna Growers Exchange and the Vernon Fruit Growers Union at Winfield.

The idea of waxing apples began about 18 months ago when packinghouse officials asked D. G. Pratt, manager of Inland Natural Gas Co. Ltd. in Kelowna, to inspect apple-waxing equipment in Washington State and see if the process could be used practically in B.C.

An ordinary highly polished apple soon loses its lustre after it arrives on the fresh market, but a waxed apple retains its appearance for weeks.

Shrinkage and quality deterioration of the waxed apple is much slower. Waxing gives an added bonus—blemishes stand out making grading of the apples easier and faster.

A test on waxed apples showed even after three weeks at 70 degree temperatures, the apples looked as if they had just come off the grader.

Mayor R. F. Parkinson, manager of Laurel Co-operative said the industry is happy with the waxing. "There is no doubt it prolongs the shelf life and keeps appearance," he said.

The nicer appearance has resulted in higher prices for the fruit.

Another Kelowna resident has received a centennial medal from Ottawa. Magistrate D. M. White received a medal similar to the ones three teachers have received.

Everyone is aware Christmas is only "a day or two around the corner", but isn't it a trifle early for Christmas songs now being aired in the Valley?

The sneeze that kills. The Automobile Association of Britain warns a driver dazed and semi-blind for 300 yards. How to stop the sneeze? Press a finger hard against the upper lip, or slap the thigh harshly. In addition, wear warm clothing and avoid drafts. Or give up sneezing?

Large clouds of smoke have been hanging over several sections of the city during the past few days, particularly the north end. Some people have thought an industrial fire was burning, but the "smoke season" covering has a simple explanation—leaves are being burned by many homeowners, with the largest number of fires and heaviest smoke occurring during the weekends.

Glenmore Street at Bernard Avenue has a new look. Southbound on Glenmore, there are now three marked traffic lanes at the intersection for turning right and left, and straight through traffic.

Several Kelowna Youths Assume DeMolay Positions

Michael Rowat Marshall of Kelowna was installed during the weekend as master councilor, Ogopogo chapter, Order of DeMolay, at a ceremony in St. George's Masonic Hall.

He replaces Jack Appleton who left Kelowna to join the RCMP.

Installing officer was Dick Auty of Kelowna, a past master councilor, Pentecost chapter and now adult advisor for the local chapter.

Other elected officers installed were: senior councilor Jeffrey McKinley; junior councilor, Cyril Tordiffe and treasurer, David Hay.

Appointed officers include: scribe, Jack Denny; senior deacon, Cameron Sutherland; junior deacon, Steven Markle; senior steward, Gerry Blaskovits; junior steward, Darcy Tarves and chaplain, Gordon Savage.

Planning Director To Check Staff-Sergeant's Suggestions

Plans calling for expansion of Kelowna's Police Administration Building have been referred to city planning director Greg Stevens.

Staff Sergeant K. A. Attree, in charge of the Kelowna RCMP detachment, said in a letter to the city council expansion was needed to provide more space for the present police operation and to ensure adequate future accommodation.

S. Sgt. Attree suggested extending the lower level of the present Doyle Avenue building west about 10 feet.

However, he said this would be only a temporary measure and since he understood the building was designed for a second storey, he suggested any additions be along this line.

He said the building now housed 29 people, including 17 for the city (including four guards and one stenographer); eight for the province (including one stenographer); two highway patrol men and two policemen working in the identification lab.

MORE COMING The staff sergeant said the 29 figure did not include the magistrates of their staff and present proposed increases call for two more city policemen and two more provincial men.

Also, he said, a new police boat would soon arrive, along with two men assigned from the police marine section, who will also require accommodation in the administration building.

S. Sgt. Attree's letter read in part: "It can be readily seen that the size of the present structure is inadequate and will become more so as the city and district population increases, should the present rate of growth be even partially maintained."

The staff sergeant said he had been told future plans call for housing probation officers and the family court in the police building. He said discussions with the senior probation officer indicated the upstairs space currently occupied by the identification branch would provide enough space for the family court. This would centralize all court proceedings, but would necessitate replacement space for the identification men.

SEVERAL NEEDS S. Sgt. Attree said to operate efficiently there should be a separate radio room, so broadcasts could not be heard by the public, as is now the case. Larger office space for all sections of the detachment, increased storage space, provisions for a prosecutor's and defence counsel office adjacent to the court and lock room for constables were all called for by the staff sergeant.

Cell accommodation was considered adequate for the foreseeable future. The council agreed a full examination of possible expansion was needed, but the planning department should examine the needs before a council decision was made.

Applications for business or trade licences from welfare institutes such as schools and kindergartens must now be referred to the traffic committee for consideration of such things as location of operation and requirements for speed zones, crosswalks and special signs.

The west side of the Centennial Museum will soon have more parking stalls, although not as many as recommended by the parking commission. Seven new parking spaces will be provided, three less than suggested in a commission plan. The original recommendation called for removal of a concrete pad, but the council was told this could involve a cost up to $4,000. By reducing the number of proposed new stalls to seven from 10 this expense was avoided. The new spaces will be restricted to two-hour parking.

No parking signs will be erected on the north boundary of the arena parking lot, as there are no longer parking stalls beside the building.

COUNCIL AT WORK

Nov. 27 Nomination Day For Kelowna Civic Election

Nomination day for Kelowna is less than three weeks away. Nominations close at noon on Nov. 27. Those whose terms expire are Mayor L. A. N. Parkinson and aldermen L. A. N. Parkinson, R. J. Wilkinson and W. T. L. Roodhouse. Returning officer for the Dec. 9 civic election, if one is required, is city controller D. B. Herbert, with city clerk James Huds in his deputy.

Mr. Herbert was instructed by the city council Monday night to prepare a provisional budget for 1968. The provisional budget is routine and acts as a guide for department heads as they calculate their 1968 spending estimates.

Marion Jennens, secretary of the Kelowna Secondary School Student Council, wrote Ald. Wilkinson thanking him for the interesting evening she experienced Oct. 23 when several students attended the council meeting as part of Civic Administration Day.

Two-hour parking restrictions on the north side curling rink parking area lasted only one week. Because of problems experienced by curlers who could not complete their curling activities in two hours the council voted to increase the restriction to two and one-half hours. Ald. Parkinson, who was against the original restriction, also opposed the new measure. The restriction will last until the end

Expo Is Over But Now Who Pays The Bills?

Expo is now history. The big fair was officially closed on Sunday after better than 50 million people had crowded through the gates during the 185 days the fair was opened.

Expo was a terrific success, from any point of view and by any standards. As Prime Minister Pearson said during the closing ceremonies, it demonstrated that Canadians could accomplish anything if they worked together. The fair certainly increased Canada's prestige throughout the world and particularly in the United States which sent thousands and thousands of visitors who came to see and went home with a new appreciation of this country and its people.

As the greatest of the world fairs, Expo was a success. However there are still a few loose ends to be gathered up. Such as money. The fair is supposed to have a deficit of something approaching $250,000,000. Ottawa, Quebec and Montreal are even now girdling their loins for what promises to be a monumental wrangle over who pays what and to whom.

Quebec apparently owes Ottawa at least $75,000,000 and Montreal owes at least $25,000,000.

It may be expected that Montreal and Quebec will argue that their indebtedness should be wiped out by Ottawa on the grounds that Expo's stunning success served all Canada and, therefore, all Canadians should pay.

But with the spending of all federal departments being curtailed as part of the government's anti-inflation drive, Ottawa may be expected to resist accepting more than its fair share of the Expo deficit. Nor is there any good reason why it should. The Canadian government—and thus the whole Canadian taxpayer—did assume a generous share of the cost of Expo. It is true that the greatest economic benefits went to the province of Quebec and the city of Montreal in particular. The taxpayers to these governments should be expected to bear a greater proportion of the costs than, say, the taxpayers of the Okanagan Valley.

Many people will wonder how the deficit got so big. The original estimate was for a deficit of about $47,500,000. It rose gradually until the last announced estimated deficit was $157,700,000. There were various causes but the main two were that there were more visitors than had been expected—thus upping operating costs—and they spent far less per capita than had been forecast. Also the Montreal transit strike reduced revenues still further while doing nothing to cut costs.

The $250,000,000 deficit is expected to be reduced by some $74,000,000 from salvage. However if Mayor Drapeau were to succeed in keeping Expo open as an annual fair, retaining such potentially salvageable items as the Expo Express, the final salvage figure would be considerably reduced.

While Ottawa has indicated it is opposed to the scheme of Montreal's mayor, it should take a firm and definite stand that, if the fair is to be continued, it will do so without help from Ottawa and, in fact, Ottawa would be expected to be paid in full for the facilities which would be retained, but which otherwise would contribute substantial salvage revenues.

It is not difficult to see the glory that was Expo being somewhat tarnished in the near future by a very hot three-cornered fight centring around who pays what to whom. A pity to have Expo buried in this manner but there would seem to be no other way out.

Home Of Contradictions

(Financial Post)

Consumers, according to the most voluble members of the opposition, are always the innocent, confused victims of a powerful, profit-mad system. The state must protect them. Preferably with a peacetime price control board.

That was the line of argument faced by Registrar General John Turner last week as he attempted to defend legislation establishing the new Department of Corporate and Consumer Affairs. Turner's answers that he neither agreed with general price control nor possessed the constitutional authority to impose them fell on deaf ears.

What the so-called consumer protection champions fail to define, however, is which consumers they are talking about. There are 20,000,000 of them in this country and surely at least some are partly responsible for the present march of prices. If price increases are to be held down, then surely so must the various costs of production including such things as wages, materials prices and government spending.

The same MP cannot logically call for federal intervention into the final price of bread, on the one hand, and then press the government to ensure an increase to $2 in the price of a bushel of wheat. But he does.

Too many MPs fight vociferously for subsidies and other measures to prop up inefficient industries. They rail at any move which might cause a temporary dislocation in the interests of lower costs over the long run. They cannot logically demand that government protect consumers against the inevitable outcome of these measures—higher prices. But they do.

If there is ever going to be a measure of clarity in future debate or discussion on consumer affairs, it had best be realized that every consumer is also a producer. And the left hand had better know what the right hand is doing, particularly in the House of Commons.

In Passing

A doctor says that with proper care the human body will last a lifetime. Well, yes, of course, but in many cases it just barely does.

The town's latest man says when he retires he will get up earlier than he did when working, so he will have a longer day in which to enjoy doing nothing. (P.S.—perhaps you know him.)

"You" is plural in Smokey Bear's admonition, "Only YOU can prevent forest fires." This should be clearly indicated, even if it should be necessary to resort to the southern "you all."

Another definition of hippies: Drop-outs from real life.

IT HAPPENED IN CANADA

Future Water Wonderland Grows At Hudson's Hope

HUDSON'S HOPE, B.C. (CP)—A potential water wonderland is being built up inch by inch as the waters rise behind the massive W. A. C. Bennett dam on the Peace River in northeastern British Columbia.

But provincial officials readily admit there are a million snags in the vision. And whatever advantages future boaters will enjoy, the province will pay a heavy price in the destruction of big game resources.

The $85,000,000 dam, scheduled to produce its first electricity a year from now, will form a new lake covering 640 square miles back along the Peace, Finlay and Parsnip rivers and their tributaries.

The new lake will contain a total of 57,000,000 acre-feet of water within a 1,000-mile coastline.

Provincial officials are hopeful the reservoir will be filled by 1972, giving sportsmen a whole new aquatic playground and one-third the length of B.C.'s existing salt water coastline and equal in size to five times Okanagan Lake, already a major provincial tourist spot.

They say the reservoir, man-made and man-controlled, offers a first-class fish-raising area. But wildlife will not be so fortunate. "We expect moose will be virtually eliminated in the Peace River basin," says Glen Smith, a provincial game biologist.

Moose and deer live off the vegetation of the forest edge. Because of the fluctuating water level of the reservoir, there will be no temperate vegetation between the silty-covered shores and the abrupt beginning of the forest itself.

Water fluctuation will also likely prohibit waterfowl, since underwater plants on which birds feed cannot thrive.

Nevertheless, preparations continue to provide recreational facilities, says Ken Kiernan, provincial recreation and conservation minister.

Plans are already under way to construct boat-launching ramps at various points along the reservoir. There is a black-topped highway almost to the dam itself from the southern interior of the province and west from Alberta.

WON'T CLEAR BOTTOM

Because of the relative abundance of fishing areas in B.C., there is no justification for the huge expenditure necessary for wholesale clearing the underwater area of its current forest cover at this time, says Kiernan.

However, as the demand for the reservoir for recreational use builds up there will be effort to clear the bottom, he adds.

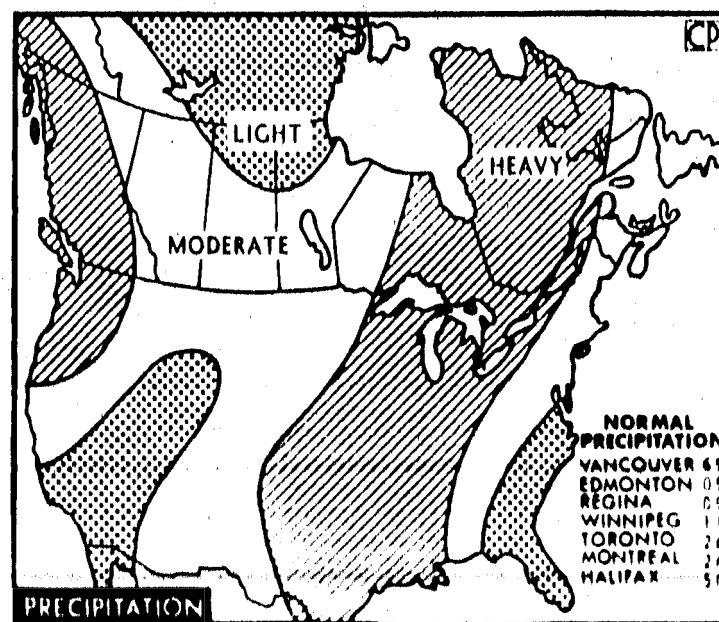

In the meantime, says Ed H. Vernon, chief of fisheries management in B.C., the reservoir will be "a jungle of trees, debris and forest junk in general."

"The fact that there is debris in the water, even in considerable quantities, is not necessarily detrimental to the production of fish," says Kiernan.

"It's a hazard to navigation and sometimes to fishing tackle."

Vernon says the drifts left by water-logged timber can be important to fish production by providing shelter and protection to young as well as mature fish.

Two species of fish expected to thrive in the vast new lake are lake whitefish and kokanee, a land-locked salmon. Plunkton eaters which can live off the reservoir itself, both are among B.C.'s finest sports and eating fish. The kokanee can grow up to nine pounds.

WEATHER FORECAST

Above normal temperatures are expected for British Columbia, southern Alberta, eastern Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes during November, according to the 30-day outlook of the United States weather bureau. Below normal readings are called for in northern Saskatchewan and Manitoba with the rest of the country having near normal temperatures.

Precipitation will be heavy in British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec, with moderate precipitation in most other areas. The outlook is not a specific forecast and changes may occur. Other normal temperatures (precipitation): New York 47 (3.6); New Orleans 60 (3.4); San Francisco 55 (1.6). (CP Newmap).

NEWS ANALYSIS

Rusk Ignores Principal

By PHILIP DEANE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

Facing heckling students—an almost weekly occurrence—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has just repeated that he will go anywhere to discuss peace terms with Hanoi. The newly inaugurated president of Vietnam, General Nguyen Van Thieu, says more or less the same thing. Both Rusk and Thieu were careful to leave out the Viet Cong as a desirable partner for peace talks; yet it is the Viet Cong alone that can make peace, and the Viet Cong has declared categorically that it will not make peace on any of the terms the Americans and the South Vietnamese government might conceivably deem acceptable.

That the Viet Cong alone can make peace is well known in Washington and Saigon. The Viet Cong effectively controls two-thirds of the country by day or night and 90 per cent of South Vietnam's territory after dark. As the successor to the war against the French, the Viet Cong now has a 20 year history of fighting; it is, in other words, a highly professional group of revolutionaries and government officials. It has shown itself capable of running the territories it controls and in many ways it has done a better job than American supported Saigon officials ever have. Certainly the Viet Cong has used terror, coercion and committed acts abhorrent to us. But in quantitative terms of actual deaths caused, the Viet Cong—in the eyes of South Vietnamese peasants—is by far the lesser evil. In any case, the Viet Cong gives land to landless peasants and America's allies take it back.

There have been thoughtful reports from many an eminent American that the more able men in the Saigon regime concede they would lose hands down in a free election against the Viet Cong—these Saigon men conclude, therefore, that they need 20 years of active American help to produce a political victory as well as a military one.

It is precisely this point that the Viet Cong has always and unequivocally rejected. The leadership of the Viet Cong—which, nominally at least, is non-Communist, makes its cardinal condition for peace the departure of the Americans. The Viet Cong believes it has the allegiance of the population and that it has earned the right to govern. It sees itself—and claims to be seen by the people—as the successful movement for liberation from foreigners. It will not allow itself to be robbed of its victory at the conference table. Its terms, therefore, are stark and simple: Let American forces get out; let there be free elections under international supervision; let the winner rule South Vietnam.

It is politically impossible for Communist governments to abandon the Viet Cong. Even such abandonment might not spell defeat for the Viet Cong which has shown it can steal enough arms for guerrilla warfare. This is the principal antagonist Mr. Rusk and Saigon ignore for good reason—recognizing the Viet Cong means defeat.

CANADA'S STORY

Iron Spike Used At Craigellachie

By BOB BOWMAN

Last Saturday's story told how Donald A. Smith turned against his old friend Sir John A. Macdonald and helped to defeat his government in 1873. Sir John had to sit in the Opposition for five years. Nevertheless Donald Smith probably did Macdonald a good turn because Prime Minister Alexander Mackenzie ran into a period of depression that made his government unpopular, and Macdonald was able to win the next election in 1878.

In the meantime Smith had made a huge fortune by promoting the St. Paul and Pacific Railway and wanted to make more money by building the CPR line across Canada. A number of syndicates competed for the contract but it was finally awarded to a company headed by Smith's cousin, George Stephen, of Montreal. Smith had to be left out, as W. G. Hardy says in "From Sea to Sea" "to enter any deal which included Donald Smith would be to wave a red flag in front of every Conservative bull."

The company that negotiated the deal with the Macdonald government on Oct. 21, 1880, was actually the third to be called Canadian Pacific Railway Company. Donald A. Smith could not be a director at first but was able to buy 5,000 shares. Later he played a big part in helping the company come through a number of financial crises and was given the honor of driving the last spike at Craigellachie.

It was actually a drab ceremony on Nov. 7, 1885. The last spike on U.S. railways was usually made of gold, but CPR extravagance and insisted on the same type of iron spike that had been used across the country. Donald Smith drove it home. Van Horne was asked to make a speech and simply said "All I can say is that the work has been well done in every way." There was an embarrassed silence and then the conductor shouted "All aboard for the Pacific!"

ANN LANDERS

Whole Family Should Pitch In And Help

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago I married a wonderful bachelor. I was 42 and he was four years older. I considered myself lucky to get such a fine man, and I still do.

The problem is his older brother, Arnie. Arnie has had several emotional problems all his life. Although there is another brother and two sisters in the family, my husband was the one who always made a home for Arnie. I knew when I married that this arrangement would have to continue. But Arnie was gentle and non-interfering and never created any problems. So I didn't mind.

The past year Arnie has become childlike and cannot be left alone for a minute. I must take him marketing, on all my errands, everywhere. I've had to give up bridge, club work, all the things I used to enjoy because I can't take Arnie with me and I can't leave him home alone.

I don't like to complain, but I am becoming a nervous wreck. Please give me an answer to this depressing problem. I feel like—A PRISONER IN MY HOME.

Dear Prisoner: Arnie's sisters and brother should work out a program to relieve you, and your husband should call them together and tell them. They should take Arnie to their homes or come to your home and stay with him, or hire paid help to do so. In my opinion, three days a week would be about right.

If they are absolutely no good and refuse to help, by all means hire a sitter for Arnie and return to your social and community activities before your husband has to hire someone to sit with you.

Dear Ann Landers: I share a duplex with a nut. We both rent. This woman has two cats. One is a Persian who wears a diaper when she runs loose in the house. The other is a cross-eyed Maltese who is famous for her contact lenses. If you think I am kidding let me assure you that I am not. The nut has all ready been written up in the papers because of the cat with the contact lenses.

My problem is that the cats are supposed to sleep in their boxes which are in the back hall. Instead, they prefer my baby's carriage. I've asked the woman 10 times to please keep the cats in her kitchen but she says it is not sanitary. When I asked how sanitary it is for her to sleep in my baby's carriage she replied, "My cats are cleaner than your baby."

You're the gal with the answers. Have you one for me?—SIZZLING.

Dear Siz: Make a muslin cover for the carriage and the cats won't be able to get in. Then check the paper for available duplexes. There are some nice ones around.

Dear Ann: I must comment on the mother who made her son wear a sign around his neck saying, "I am 7 years old and I still wet my bed." My little boy wet the bed until he was 11. I bought tablets recommended by the doctor. They did no good. I kept him off liquids after 3:00 p.m. It didn't help. I got him up at midnight. Nothing. My neighbors and friends all had sure-fire remedies. They didn't work.

I'll never forget the morning my son leaped out of bed and ran to me in the kitchen where I was preparing breakfast. His heart was jumping with joy. He shouted, "Mom, Mom, come see; The bed is dry."

I realized then that the bed-wetting had made him as unhappy as it had made me. All I could say, "Thank you, God for giving me the patience to endure this trial without hurting my child." — LESSON LEARNED.

Dear Learned: It was good of you to write. I hope other mothers will learn from your letter.

Kam-Dunn Reception Is Held At Home Of Groom's Parents

The wedding of Miss Jean Dunn, daughter of Mrs. Alec Solosky, and Daniel Peter Kam, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kam took place in the Kelowna Court-house on Nov. 3 at 2 p.m., with Judge R. E. Manson officiating at the ceremony.

The groom's elder brother, James Kam, and his wife acted as best man and matron of honor respectively, and following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents in the Kelowna.

The bride looked lovely in a white dress of chiffon and lace over tulle. Her chapel veil was held in place by a sparkling coronet and she wore a corsage of pink roses. The matron of honor wore a gold and white sheath dress of bonded silk with a white corsage and white accessories.

Mrs. Kam received the guests wearing a smart pink and silver lame dress, a pink corsage and silver accessories, and for the occasion the bride's mother chose a dress of green flowered jersey accented with black accessories and a corsage of roses and Mrs. Charles Johnson who helped her mother receive the guests was charming in a gold lame dress with a black lace overdress and gold accessories.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and was centered with a three tiered wedding cake made by the groom's mother and beautifully decorated by Mrs. Kam and her daughter-in-law Mrs. James Kam. The cake was white and silver and was topped by a miniature bride and groom.

Charles Ross gave the toast to the bride to which the groom responded, and some 60 guests sat down to a delicious dinner which was followed later in the evening by dancing.

Following a brief honeymoon the young couple will take up residence in East Kelowna. By the East Kelowna correspondent.

Rutland Women's Institute Plans Annual Turkey Supper

The Rutland Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. J. B. Baustad on Wednesday evening last for their monthly meeting. The president, Mrs. Edward Burnell, was in the chair and the roll call was responded to by each member describing what they liked best about the autumn season.

Plans were made for the annual turkey supper for Women's Institute members and their husbands or guest. This will be held on Saturday, December 9, in the Rutland Park Hall, and there will be an exchange of Christmas gifts amongst members.

The members decided to purchase a wreath from the Canadian Legion, to be placed on the local Rutland War Memorial by a Women's Institute member on Nov. 11 during the local ceremony.

Material was distributed for the making of aprons and other items, and at the close of the meeting afternoon tea was served by the hostess and a social half hour enjoyed.

Rutland UCW To Resume The Hobo Coffee Parties

The Rutland UCW met in the church basement hall recently for their monthly session, with the president, Mrs. John Koops in the chair.

Mrs. Curtis Harris took the devotional period and during the evening a very interesting panel discussion was held on subjects taken from the United Church periodical, the "Observer." Those taking part were Mrs. Melville Goss, Mrs. Arthur Geen, Mrs. Malcolm Forsythe, Mrs. Elwyn Cross and Mrs. Howard Hall.

At the business session which followed it was reported that the new carpeting for the church aisle had arrived and would be laid shortly. The meeting decided to hold two bake

While Red Wings Falter Howe Just Rolling Along

MONTREAL (CP)—Big Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings doesn't let the fact his club is doing badly spoil his individual play.

The Wings ran into a roadblock in their three games last week as they were unable to pick up a point with three straight losses. They were outscored 18-9 and two of their setbacks were at the hands of teams from the National Hockey League's expansion division.

Howe, the player who has been in the NHL longer than anyone in history, demonstrated again why at age 39, he is one of hockey's hottest properties. Despite the Wings' poor showings, he managed to pick up four goals and one assist. This total moved him into a tie with Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks in the NHL's individual scoring race.

Howe, who has won the scoring championship a record six times in his previous 21 seasons, is ahead of his goal-scoring pace of last season when he scored goal No. 10 in Detroit's 33rd game.

So far this season he has 10 goals in 12 games and six assists for a total of 16 points. Hull's 16-point total is a result of his goal-a-game clip of 11 and five assists.

Yvan Cournoyer of Montreal Canadiens stayed within reach of the leaders by virtue of his seven goals and seven assists for 14 points.

Six players are grouped behind Cournoyer with 13 points. They are Andy Bathgate of Pittsburgh Penguins, Fred Stanfield and John McKenzie of Boston Bruins, Dave Keon of Toronto Maple Leafs, Jean Ratelle of New York Rangers, and veteran Detroit captain Alex Delvecchio.

Another veteran, captain George Armstrong of Toronto, picked up seven points last week including three goals to raise his personal total to five goals and five assists for the season.

A pair of youngsters who have kept Philadelphia Flyers in contention in the Western Division, took over the goal-tending lead.

Doug Favell and Bernie Parent have a combined goals-against average of 2.20, after their club's surprising 4-1 upset and 1-1 draw against Canadiens on the weekend.

Team mate Ed Van Impe leads the individual penalty parade with 33 minutes.

GOLFERS AGREE

Accuracy Will Be Key Along Narrow Course

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Long ball hitters won't have much of an advantage Thursday when play opens in the 72-hole World Cup golf tournament at the Club de Golf Mexico.

"This is a very narrow course," said Gary Player of South Africa. "Accuracy will be more important than distance."

Martin Roesink of Holland, one of professional golf's longest hitters, was inclined to agree.

"The fairways are very narrow and it'll be easy to get in trouble," he said. "The ball carries farther at this altitude so even people who normally aren't long off the tee will be getting more distance than they would at sea level.

"But accuracy will be the most important thing."

Eighty golfers from 40 countries tee off Thursday morning in two-man teams to play for national prestige and personal honor in the 15th running of what used to be called the Canada Cup. The United States' Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer are favored to repeat the team championship they won last year in Tokyo.

Player, 1965 winner of the International Trophy signifying the individual championship, was pleased with the layout after 27 practice holes.

"It's a beautiful course, perhaps the most beautiful tournament has ever been played on," he said. "But it is difficult. There are a lot of traps and I doubt that the long hitters will open up because the fairways are so narrow."

About half the 40 teams got in practice rounds Monday. The rest were due in Mexico City tonight in time for a dinner at the club.

It still was not certain that Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, a former team and individual winner, would appear. He was reported ill in Buenos Aires.

De Vicenzo Replaced In World Cup Games

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, reigning British Open champion, withdrew Monday from the 72-hole World Cup golf tournament and was replaced by Fidel de Luca. De Luca will team with Florentine Molina.

De Vicenzo, who paired with Antonio Cerdas to win the inaugural team prize in 1953 when the event was called the Canada Cup, said he was "too tired to compete." De Vicenzo also won the individual crown in 1962.

The 37-nation event opens Thursday.

George Knudson and Al Balding of Toronto will represent Canada. Knudson won individual honors last year.

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus represent the U.S. Top prize money is $3,000 for the team first place and $1,000 individual first place.

The Palmer-Nicklaus team won team honors in Tokyo in 1964, Madrid in 1965, Hawaii in 1966, and Paris in 1967.

1964 and Paris in 1963, Nicklaus teamed with the late Tony Lema when they won the Canada Cup in 1962.

CANADA'S HOPES

Canada will be represented by George Knudson, the Winnipeg native now playing out of Toronto who won the individual honors at last year's tournament—then called the Canada Cup, and Al Balding of Toronto.

The park-like Club de Golf Mexico, site of the 1958 tournament, has been stretched to 7,250 yards to make the longest course ever used in the tournament.

Hoopsters Play At Gymnasium

Two games are scheduled tonight in the Kelowna Senior Men's Basketball League. At 7:30 p.m., the Teachers meet the Dons while at 8:30 p.m. the Industrials take on the War Buffs.

Both games are at the Kelowna Secondary School gymnasium.

The four-team league opened its season last Tuesday with the War Buffs defeating the Teachers and the Dons beating the Industrials.

Games are played at the gymnasium every Tuesday.

The Men's Senior team, a collection of individual stars from the Kelowna league plays its first home game at the gym Thursday.

Second Place For Teamsters

The Kelowna Teamsters blanked Vernon Nationals 3-0 Sunday to assure themselves of a second-place finish in the first half of the Okanagan Valley Soccer League schedule.

The Teamsters open the second half of the schedule in March, 1968.

Kelowna scored all three goals in the first half of play Sunday for their third victory in eight games. They have lost two and tied three.

Scores were George Kamoshinski, John Vusic and Rudy Lindner.

In Penticton, the Molsons edged Osoyoos 3-2 to remain in third place. Kamloops Balcoos were idle but clinched first spot in the five-team league some weeks before.

World Champion Files Complaint

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The Nevada state boxing commission is expected to hear a complaint today from the American representative of world light heavyweight champion Dick Tiger.

Lew Burston, who represents the Nigerian fighter in the United States, was expected to challenge a rule which will permit three judges to decide the winner of the Nov. 18 championship bout between Tiger and Roger Rouse if it goes 15 rounds. Under the rule the referee has no vote.

"They're making a traffic cop and a messenger out of the referee," Burston said Monday. "The rule, which has been in effect for two years in Nevada, will be invoked for the first time in a championship bout."

"One of the duties of the referee in the new system is to collect the voting slips of the three judges and carry them to an auditor after each round."

"He's still the best judge of the fight," said Burston of the referee.

Melbourne Cup To Red Handed

MELBOURNE (AP)—Red Handed, a 4-to-1 favorite, captured the 100th running of the Melbourne Cup, Australia's greatest horse race, before a crowd of 75,000 Tuesday.

Ridden by Roy Higgins, Red Handed outlasted Red Crest by a neck and ran the two miles in 3:20.4 while carrying 121 pounds. Floodbird, an 80-to-1 shot, finished third. Red Handed's time was nine-tenths of a second off the Cup record.

The victory, worth $46,000, marked the third straight year that Bart Cummings of South Australia has trained the winning horse in the running of the Melbourne Cup.

Margaret Flannery of Melbourne, a mother of 12 and wife of a garbageman, won $121,000 by drawing the winner in a Cup lottery.

Black Weekend For Soccer; Inquiry Called Into Brawl

LONDON (AP)—Brawling players and fist-swinging fans have sent world soccer spinning to the edge of anarchy.

This was the grim tale after one of the blackest weekends in the game's history.

The Federation of International Football Associations called for an inquiry into Saturday's savage World Club title clash in Montevideo, Uruguay. Five players, three from Glasgow Celtic of Scotland and two from Racing Club of Argentina, were sent off the field and police broke up brawls between the teams.

Hungarian referee Jozsef Gere was in hospital in Vienna after being hit with a bottle by a spectator in a riotous end to the Australia-Greece European Cup of Nations match. Gere abandoned the game as fans and police fought on the field.

ISSUE WARNING

A group of English League referees threatened to resign if they are not given better protection against unruly fans.

Jimmy Scoullar, manager of English Division II team Cardiff City, said he was punched in the face by a spectator at the end of his team's league match against Millwall.

A Liverpool fan was sent to jail for a month for punching a policeman at the Tottenham Hotspur-Liverpool game. The man, William Oulson, 21, was one of the fans who were escorted from the stadium after fighting behind one of the goals.

English referee Keith Stiles said he is reporting the Chelsea team for ungentlemanly conduct after the 1-1 tie with Burnley in the English League. Chelsea players protested Burnley's equalizing goal and kept up the argument as the referee tried to

CROZIER ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT

Tension Claims Another

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Pressure of playing in the National Hockey League claimed a second victim in less than a week Monday when Roger Crozier, the pint-sized Detroit goaltender, decided to quit hockey.

Demoted to Fort Worth of the Central Professional League earlier in the day after allowing 18 goals in the Red Wings last three games, Crozier told Detroit management he and his wife had decided Sunday night to return to their Bracebridge, Ont., home.

Last Thursday morning, just before their train left for Detroit, Toronto Maple Leafs lost the services of their leading scorer when Frank Mahovlich left the team's sleeping coach and was admitted to Toronto General Hospital suffering from fatigue and tension, technical terms for a nervous breakdown.

The Big M will be lost to the Toronto club for two to eight weeks.

Crozier's departure appears permanent although club officials hope he will reconsider.

NERVY DISPOSITIONS

As with Mahovlich, Crozier's problems appear to be his nerves.

The 150 pound, 25-year-old told general manager Sid Abel he "had lost his confidence."

"He might have been near a nervous breakdown and rather than get to that stage he decided to hang it up," Abel said Monday.

"I don't believe he has seen a doctor. I actually think he will reconsider—but he said 'don't try and talk me out of it.'"

Abel earlier in the day had recalled goalie Roy Edwards and centre Jim Peters from Fort Worth.

Edwards is expected to play Thursday against Pittsburgh Penguins while Peters is a straight exchange for left-winger John Brennaman.

"He has taken this thing (slump) worse than anyone," said Abel. "He needs a rest very badly in order to keep his health."

Crozier is a worrier who developed an ulcer at 17.

FEARS URGENCY

"When I'm playing hockey I'm worried all the time that someone is going to get my job," he once confided. "The only time I really forget about my problems is after a game when we've won. But by the next morning I'd be worrying again.

"Detroit has had such great goalies as (Terry) Sawchuk, Glenn Hall and Harry Lumley," he once said. "And now they're stuck with a little runt like me."

Runt or not, Crozier has shown his value to the team by winning the Calder Trophy as the best NHL rookie in 1964-65 and the Conn Smythe Trophy as the most valuable player in the 1965-66 Stanley Cup final.

He almost died of pancreatitis during the summer of 1966. He returned to the Detroit nets in the fall to have his most dismal NHL season with a 3.35 goal-against average.

Mahovlich's breakdown is his second in three years.

After a miserable 18-goal season last year, Mahovlich has been the team leader so far this season and played his best game of the year in beating Montreal Canadiens 5-0 the night before he became ill.

Montreal coach Toe Blake joined the ranks of the worriers Monday when team captain Jean Beliveau was lost to the Canadiens for three weeks with a sprained left knee injured Saturday against Philadelphia Flyers. Right-winger Claude Larose also is out with a bruised elbow picked up in the same contest.

Blake also announced that Bryan Watson has been called up from Cleveland Barons with Steve Hunt moving to Cleveland from Houston of the CPHL to replace him.

In other league action, 23 members of the Leafs and Boston Bruins were assessed $50 each in fines by league president Clarence Campbell following a brawl Sunday night at the Boston Garden.

The only two players to escape fines were Toronto defenceman Duane Rupp who was already serving a penalty, and Boston's John Bucyk who was in the Garden's clinic when the donnybrook exploded.

The most severe injury was a broken nose and three-stitch cut taken by Boston defenceman Bobby Orr from the stick of Toronto forward Brian Conacher in the incident that sparked the brawl.

Barry van Gerbig, California Seals owner, says he is applying to Campbell for permission to change the club name, forced on him by a league decision, because the club not only plays in Oakland but draws as much as 70 per cent of its support from the city across the Bay Bridge from San Francisco.

He wants them called Oakland Seals instead of California Seals, but they probably won't have permission in time to make the change before they take on Western Division leading Los Angeles Kings tonight in Los Angeles in the only scheduled game.

Celtic Ineligible For Big Award

LONDON (AP) — Glasgow Celtic soccer team, who had four players sent off in the world club title playoff against Racing Club of Argentina, today were deprived of the annual British Sportsman of the Year award.

The British Sports Writers Association, which presents the award, declared Celtic ineligible.

It happened after an edited film of last Saturday's savage game in Montevideo, Uruguay had been shown on British television.

Celtic had topped a poll by British sports writers.

The Association said its committee had disqualified Celtic under a rule which says: "The poll is restricted to those who have contributed most to Great Britain's international sports prestige."

Instead, the award was given to the runner-up, motorcycle ace Mike Hailwood.

It is traditional for the award to go to an individual sportsman. But last year, the sports writers set a precedent by giving it to the England soccer team which won the World Cup

CONCESSIONS TOO

All concession revenue would go to the team until the million mark in admissions is reached. Milwaukee County would receive 10 per cent of the gross after that.

On the rent proposal, the $1 would be charged for the first million paid admissions because it is a National League regulation. After the first million, the county would take five per cent of the gross ticket revenue on admissions up to 1,500,000.

The county would get seven per cent on admissions from 1-

Businessmen Seek Franchise For Milwaukee Baseball Team

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A private camp seeking the return of big league baseball to Milwaukee announced Monday that a locally owned expansion franchise would receive virtually free use of County Stadium for 25 years and would get a city record broadcast contract.

The Milwaukee Brewers Baseball Club, Inc., which is comprised of local businessmen seeking to find a replacement for the National League Braves, who departed for Atlanta after the 1965 season, made the offer in the form of a brochure summarizing the package.

Under the plan, which was presented to National League owners and president Warren Giles, rent for Milwaukee County Stadium would be $1 a year for the first 1,000,000 paid admissions each year for the first 25 years. And, the seating capacity for baseball would be increased from 45,000 to 55,000.

The brochure said also that the Brewers obtain a franchise they will be assured a three-year radio and television pact worth $3,300,000.

Tabbies' Zuger A Triple Threat

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Quarterback Joe Zuger of Hamilton Tiger-Cats is one of the last triple threat men in professional football although he wasn't among the winners of individual honors in the Eastern Football Conference this season.

Zuger's 163 completions in 319 pass attempts for 2,775 yards and a .511 per cent completed average is second only to Russ Jackson of Ottawa Rough Riders, according to final EFC statistics released Monday.

But the 27-year-old former quarterback with Arizona State

1NT Pass 3♥ Pass 4♥

Opening lead—Queen of clubs. Let's suppose you're declarer at four hearts and West leads the queen of clubs. How would you play the hand?

The obvious losers are two spades and a heart, but there is also the possibility of losing another spade as well as another trump trick if things go badly.

It is impossible to know so early in the play how the opponents' cards are divided, but your first thought should be to cater to the most likely division of their cards.

The odds favor the hearts being divided 3-2, which occurs 68% of the time, and the spades not being divided 3-3, since that division occurs only 36% of the time.

The best way of proceeding is to assume a favorable trump division, since any division other than 3-2 is likely to make the hand unmanageable. Once you assume this and follow the proper line of play, the question of how the spades are divided becomes academic.

The first thing to do after winning the club is to ruff a club. This is the beginning of a campaign to make the maximum number of trump tricks possible. Then, after cashing the K-A of hearts and noting the 3-2 division, you enter dummy with a diamond and ruff another club.

When you now repeat the process by leading a diamond and ruffing dummy's last club, you find yourself out of trumps (dummy still has one), but, more important, you also find that you have scored eight tricks in the course of your travels back and forth.

This means that the contract is made because you can now lead the ace of diamonds and ace of spades, not caring whether either one is ruffed, and, most particularly, not caring whether the spades are divided 3-3, 4-2, or in any other way.

By ruffing dummy's club losers and deliberately weakening your trump holding, you avoid the danger of an unfavorable spade division.

Canada Privately Pushes U.S. To Halt Bombings

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is privately pushing in Washington its proposal that the U.S. stop bombing North Vietnam as the only way open to starting peace talks, informed sources say.
External Affairs Minister Martin made his stop-the-bombing proposal in the United Nations General Assembly Sept. 27.
"Talks of any kind cannot get started unless the bombing is stopped," Mr. Martin later told the Commons.
"A situation in which the bombing is no longer being carried out would force the North Vietnamese to react..."
Mr. Martin's latest attempt to get negotiations started is only one in a long series of Canadian initiatives extending over the last several years.

Johnson Sees Wall Street Men But Money Market 'Tough'

NEW YORK (CP)—Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec arrives here tonight for talks with leading Wall Street financiers.
New York in the past has been the main market for bonds of Hydro-Quebec, which requires $200,000,000 of the provinces projected borrowings of $450,000,000 in this fiscal year.
Experts in the New York bond market note that the situation at the moment is "tight." They emphasize, however, that Quebec bonds have enjoyed a good reception in the market in the past and say Quebec should have no special difficulties now if it needed money.
A spokesman for one Wall Street investment firm said: "The condition of the bond market is very good—not unlike that in Canada, although probably a little bit tougher here. Everyone is having trouble raising money and if Quebec should encounter difficulties we should not read anything political into it. It's just the state of the market."
NO DISCRIMINATION
"We should take it in perspective. I don't think Canada or Quebec would be discriminated against on the market."
Another spokesman concerned with the bond market suggested Quebec does not have as much difficulty raising money here as Canadians think it does.
A spokesman from another major investment firm said Quebec "probably would have more trouble raising money in Canada than it would on the market here."
He noted, however, that the market in general has been in bad shape and for the last 10 days "has been as bad as in the worst days of last year."
WASHINGTON BLAMED
All spokesmen blamed failure of Washington to impose the income tax increase proposed by President Johnson as a major factor in the market's decline. Many financiers have urged that the tax be greater than the 10-per-cent surtax suggested and that it be imposed immediately, but it now is apparent that the tax will not be added this year.
Aside from a series of private meetings, Premier Johnson Wednesday will address the Council of Foreign Relations, an association of people interested in international finance, and Thursday will speak to the Canadian Society of New York.
Friday he will be a guest at the annual fund-raising dinner of the New York Financial Writers Association.
He returns to Quebec Sunday.

Probe On Alberta's Rulers Still Only Half Way Through

EDMONTON (CP)—The porter with CFRN, met Edmonton businessman Tom O'Dwyer, allegations of impropriety in the Alberta government have been in session 31 days in eight weeks. It has filled 31 volumes—more than 3,300 pages—with transcript.
It is not half over.
The inquiry is investigating allegations that Welfare Minister A. J. Hooke and E. H. Hinman, former provincial treasurer, used or attempted to use their office for personal gain or the gain of their friends.
The allegations were made during the last session of the Alberta legislature by Garth Turner, former New Democratic Party member for Pincher Creek-Crowsnest.
The allegations are being dealt with in two phases, the first concerning Mr. Hooke. There will be a week's recess between the two sections.
At first scheduled to last about a month, the inquiry now is unlikely to be completed before the end of February.
The portion dealing with Mr. Hooke has been broken roughly into three topics: The development of Sherwood Park, which was completed; Mr. Hooke's association with Edmonton surgeon-businessman Dr. C. A. Allard, which finished Friday; and land dealings between Ideal Homes Ltd., one of Mr. Hooke's companies, and the city of Edmonton.
The Hooke-Allard association was closely questioned because of Dr. Allard's meteoric rise in the business world from a young doctor starting a practice in 1948, to head of a business empire stretching across the Canadian west.
Dr. Allard denied he had talked with Mr. Hooke about any business transactions or that Mr. Hooke had done him any favors.
Instead, he told of a family friendship that had started after he had performed an operation on Mrs. Hooke.
North West Trust Co., a firm controlled by Dr. Allard, was activated in 1958 using an old inactive charter. Mr. Hooke was provincial secretary at the time but Dr. Allard said they didn't meet until late 1959.
Also questioned closely was a 1963 loan of $1,500,000 to Paris Investments, an Allard firm, by the treasury branch, a government-owned near-bank.
C. G. Davey, superintendent of treasury branches who said he considered the loan well served, also said the loan—in the form of a revolving credit account—was approved by the treasury branch loan committee and that Mr. Hooke, as a cabinet minister, would know nothing of it and had not influenced it in any way.
Dr. Allard also denied dealings with Mr. Hooke in connection with the government leasing a downtown office building owned in part by Allard interests.
The inquiry was also told of a 1964 meeting between Mr. Hooke and Jim Hume, a former Edmonton Journal reporter that resulted in a telephone call from Premier E. C. Manning to Journal Publisher Basil Dennis which Premier Manning explained of the treatment accorded Mr. Hooke.
Although accounts of the meeting differed in detail, the substance of the testimony was that:
—Mr. Hume and Morley Grundberg, a former radio re-

PRAIRIE BRIEFS

'Blind Man' Drove Car

EDMONTON (CP)—Earl Pike of Edmonton drives a car although he receives a blind pension, the Alberta Supreme court was told Monday. Pike was given a one-year suspended sentence when he pleaded guilty to four fraud counts involving welfare cheques.

SUSPECTS REMANDED

EDMONTON (CP)—Three persons charged with possession of marijuana were remanded to Thursday for trial when they appeared in magistrate's court Monday. Charged are Kirby Moorhouse, 21, of Port Alberni, B.C., Michael McGregor, 21, of Parksville, B.C., and James Martens, 17, of Edmonton.

VICTIMS IDENTIFIED

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—RCMP Monday identified the three persons killed in a two-car, head-on crash on the Trans-Canada Highway near here Thursday as Edward Joseph Tansky, 44, of Chemanus, B.C., Nobuko Yoshizaki, 24, and Chieko Kamiura, 27, two Calgary girls.

WEST DISTINGUISHED

EDMONTON (CP)—Governor-General Michener told 180 guests at a provincial dinner Monday night that the "enterprise and sense of purpose of the people in the West distinguish it from the rest of Canada."

Moscow Full Of Visitors

MOSCOW is swarming with Communist leaders from around the world during the celebration of the 50th anniversary of Bolshevik power, but those who want to use the event for a world Communist strategy conference are likely to be frustrated. The chances for such a conference, for at least another year, are dim. This represents a Soviet defeat.
For the last six months, Moscow has persistently prompted the idea of a global conference. The last such was seven years ago.
Russian Communists have run into such stiff opposition that indications now are they have quietly abandoned the idea of trying to hold such a meeting at the present time, even though the 50th anniversary would provide the opportunity.
Moscow had the support, sometimes reluctant, of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Bulgaria. The idea was to send out an invitation to all parties around the world, including the Chinese and those who support them.

CHINESE SCORN

The Chinese were more than likely to treat the invitation with lofty scorn. The Yugoslav, a Romanian and Italian Communists were dead set against a meeting on a global basis. And now are freely predicting that nothing of the sort can take place before the end of 1968, if then.

WAITRESSES TRAIN

NEW GLASGOW, N.S. (CP)—The Nova Scotia food services development program has launched a series of five waitress training course. Waitresses are given a total of 16 hours instruction which include techniques of proper guest service, sanitation, grooming, personal hygiene, safety and house policy. Idea behind the course is to teach waitresses to be salesgirls rather than order-takers.

Amerigo Corrado, right, chairman of the Regatta mid-way committee, presents Murray Joyce, chairman of the Kelowna International Regatta Association, with a cheque for $2,397, the association's share of the profits. The Kinsmen and Kinettes operate the midway annually and this year the profits were the biggest on record. The Kinsmen showed $3,096, to be used to finance the community projects of the club.

Three Seats To Be Contested In Peachland Council Election

PEACHLAND—Three seats on the municipal council come up for election on Dec. 9. The present Reeve, Harold Thwaite, will stand for re-election for a second term. The two councillors S. Elstone and E. Beet, whose two-year terms expire in December, have also stated their intention to run again. Council Beet has served on council for two two-year terms. Council Elstone has also served on council for two terms, though not consecutively. There is no indication at this time that anyone is contemplating standing for Reeve, though this could change by Nov. 27, the final nomination day.

Poppy Sales Reported Good As Vernon Starts Big Week

By MABEL JOHNSON

VERNON—Poppy Day in Vernon on Saturday was a great success. The sum of $1,463 was collected; all of which will be spent locally to assist veterans and their dependents who need help of various types. Poppy Day was, as in the past, conducted under the auspices of Branch No. 25, Royal Canadian Legion, which is grateful to everyone who helped in any way toward this endeavor.

Remembrance Day falls on Saturday and stores and other business establishments normally open on Saturday, will be closed all day.

The Royal Canadian Legion is organizing the annual service of remembrance, when legionnaires, the ladies' auxiliary and others remember those who gave their lives in two world wars and in Korea. If the weather should be very cold, rainy or snowy, the service proper will be held in the Royal Canadian Legion auditorium, with the parade marching to the Cenotaph for the two minutes' silence at 11 a.m. and the placing of wreaths. Should the weather be reasonably fine the service will be held at the Cenotaph as usual.

Units marching in the parade will include: Branch No. 25, Royal Canadian Legion; the ladies' auxiliary to the Legion; the B.C. Dragoons; Navy, Army and Air Force Cadets, with the Vernon Girls' Trumpet Band leading the procession. The Veterans' detachment, R.C.M.P., will supply an escort to the Legion's color party. The band from the W. L. Seaton School will accompany the hymns; and bugler Keith Simms will play the Last Post and the Reveille, with piped Gregor Garrow playing the Lament.

The Rev. Canon C. E. Reeve is the Legion padre, and he with other clergy, will take part in the service of remembrance wherever it is held. Following the service and wreath placing legionnaires will proceed to the cemetery for a wreath-placing ceremony there. There will be a bus service from downtown to the cemetery for anyone who wishes to share in this ceremony.

Right after the parade, the Evan Kemp Entertainers from the Coast will play for a sing song, and provide a floor show, in the Legion auditorium. That evening there will be a dance also in the Legion auditorium.

Last Sunday evening, Nov. 5, members of Branch No. 25, and its ladies' auxiliary, paraded to All Saints' Anglican Church for a service of remembrance, at which the Right Rev. Henry H. Marsh, retired bishop of the Yukon, preached the sermon.

De Gaulle Warned Of Crisis If Britain Shut Out Of ECM

PARIS (AP)—A Paris newspaper says it is clear from President de Gaulle's interview with Irish Prime Minister John Lynch that "de Gaulle is closing the door to the English" attempt to join the Common Market.

Another paper says another de Gaulle veto might cause a substitution of Britain for France in the Common Market, which it says West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger hinted Friday.

The first paper, Paris Jour, which supports de Gaulle, says in a page one editorial: "A categorical refusal to the English candidacy. That is the conclusion that can be drawn from the interview."

It says de Gaulle told Lynch that "the six of continental Europe should remain tightly tied and the only solution to be considered would be an association between the six and the other continental states."

It says "de Gaulle is posing no more conditions to Britain's entry, but is opposing the entry purely and simply."

De Gaulle vetoed a previous bid by Britain to join the economic community. Britain now is trying again.

L'Aurore editorialist Roland Faure says that Kiesinger "warned Gen. de Gaulle against the consequences of a new veto."

"This destructive crisis, whose menace the German chancellor evoked, cannot help but lead to a new community constituted by our five partners and Britain: a new Atlantic Common Market to which America will be associated and France will find herself alone, terribly isolated by her retreat."

The result to the French would be "a 25 per cent reduction in the standard of life," the

Photographer Wins Award

By MABEL JOHNSON

VERNON—A unusual award has been won by Kenneth C. Alexander of Vernon, Mr. Alexander is instrument man and senior draftsman with the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, South Interior at the regional office in Vernon.

A presentation was made to Mr. Alexander on Oct. 27 by Ted Parkinson, engineering department, of $500 for a photographic method to enlarge the provincial government interior maps 1 inch - 2 miles to B.C. Hydro Distribution Maps 1 inch - 600 feet. All B.C. Hydro electric distribution lines in British Columbia are laid out on these maps.

This method will be adopted by all regional offices in the province.

Mr. Alexander took two first prizes at the Interior Provincial Exhibition last fall, also two first prizes this fall. He is well known for his photographs, one appearing in the September-October R.C. Motorist. One of Mr. Alexander's specialties are his slide lectures on nature.

Mr. Alexander joined the B.C. Power Commission in 1954, coming to Vernon four years ago.

CLOVERDALE, B.C. (CP)—A youth, about 20, was killed Monday night in a two-car crash on the Fraser Highway east of this Fraser Valley community. His name was withheld.

BROTHER KILLED
PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—Robert Francis Smith, 36, was killed in a hunting accident Sunday when his brother Murray, 33, mistook him for a deer, police said. Both men are from nearby Port Simpson, B.C.

Pentiction Host To Legion Meet

PEACHLAND—A meeting of the South Okanagan and Similkameen zone was held Sunday at the Royal Canadian Legion, Pentiction. Seventy-six delegates from both official and fraternal representing branches and ladies' auxiliaries from Peachland to Princeton attended.

Steve H. Dunston of Summerland introduced as guest speaker of the afternoon J. C. Hall of Trail, immediate past president of Pacific Command. He chose as his main topic, Project 67. Mr. Hall urged all branches within the zone to fulfill their commitments to the dominion fund which was set up as a Legion centennial project aimed at a $1,000,000 fund to perpetuate legion aims and services.

The presented awards to both Oliver and Princeton representatives, to commemorate the reaching of their quotas. The Greenwood branch has also reached their quota though no delegates were present to receive this award. Other topics touched on briefly by this interesting speaker were command organization and veterans' welfare.

He also announced that four Pacific Command scholarships have been awarded to students in this zone; each was for $300. Winners of these awards were Ronald Huva, Westbank, Kathleen Tavenner, Summerland, Francis Arnold, Pentiction, and Miss M. Futral, Keremeos.

The LA delegates at their meeting voted to purchase newly available post zone representatives medals for the two immediate past zone representatives, Mrs. E. Bonthoux of Summerland and Mrs. E. Hallet of Okanagan Falls.

Mrs. N. G. Kincaid of Pentiction gave a report on planning now in committee, for the entertainment of both delegates and their wives at the dominion convention May, 1968, in Pentiction. Mrs. Kincaid stressed that all branches and LAs in the zone will be asked to assist Branch 40 with this big undertaking.

She also pointed out that this will be the first dominion legion convention ever held in a smaller city, they have always been held in the past in places such as Vancouver, Montreal or Winnipeg. If the whole area works together to make this a success, other smaller centres could come into their own in the future, she said.

Elections, Some History Mark Scouting Meeting

RUTLAND—The Rutland Boy Scout Group Committee, at a meeting held in the Centennial Park hall, elected officers to vacancies on the executive. Morris Pidwebski was chosen vice-chairman, and Mrs. Russell Light, who had resigned as treasurer, was persuaded to accept the coming year.

The completed executive includes the following, in addition to the two aforementioned: Ray Bradford, chairman; Mrs. H. J. Sewell, secretary; Mrs. Bernard Penner, publicity; Claude Dion, Lions Club representative and finance chairman; Edward Paice, district council representative and phoning committee members Mrs. Paice and Mrs. Richard Wilson. Other executive members are Earl Olson, Kelly Fisher, Mrs. Olson, Mrs. J. C. Szaroz and Mrs. David Horning.

Plans were finalized for a bottle drive to be held on Nov. 18, all cars to meet at the central elementary school at 9 a.m., with the depot set for the rear of Dion's store as in previous drives. At least 12 cars will be needed.

In his report to the meeting, the chairman, Ray Bradford, commented favorably on the fact that 13 of the Rutland leaders and committee members had attended the district council's annual meeting and banquet in the Royal Anne Oct. 25. He also noted that the first charter issued to a Rutland Boy Scout troop had been issued in April, 1926, more than 41 years ago, the leaders then being A. W. Gray, scoutmaster with Reginald Wedge and Allen Dalgleish as assistant scoutmasters. The troop had three patrols and a strength of 22.

THEN THE CUBS
The wolf cubs then were started by Rev. C. E. Davis, the Anglican minister from Kelowna, with Mrs. C. H. Bond assisting. The scout troop, however, dates back to May 15, 1920, when E. T. Money, as the scoutmaster and Rev. Thomas Griffith, assistant, started a troop of 18 boys. Rev. Frank Stanton, Mr. Griffith's successor as Methodist minister, was later an assistant in 1922, but left in 1923 to take over a boys' school in Quebec. Art Gray, who had been his assistant, took over as scoutmaster, serving in that capacity until 1948, a period of 25 years. Gordon Manson, a school teacher who had been an assistant scoutmaster, succeeded him. He was later succeeded by Bert Chichester, well-known outdoorsman, who held the post for some years and is still helping Scoutmaster Howard Johnson as an assistant.

AN INVITATION
Dr. A. W. N. Druitt, leader of the Pathfinders, the Seventh-Day Adventist youth organization, was present by invitation and spoke briefly on their activities, and extended an invitation to the scouts and cubs to visit their new hall. The matter of possible conflict in bottle drives was cleared up when Dr. Druitt advised that the Pathfinders were not planning further such drives, the previous one having been conducted solely as a centennial effort, to aid Rutland Centennial committee funds.

Plans for the forthcoming Remembrance Day ceremonies at 2 p.m. on Nov. 11 at the Rutland Central Elementary grounds were discussed. The scout troop and cub packs will participate, and scouts will provide a color party.

Scoutmaster Howard Johnson reported on the activities of the scout troop, and stated that a dozen or more of the older boys are ready and eager to be formed into a ventures group, the new branch of scouting for senior boys.

Additional leaders will be required to assist with the Ventures and the remaining younger scout troop. The plan is for Scoutmaster Johnson to take over the Ventures as assistant scoutmaster. John Dendy would become scoutmaster of the younger group.

A number of possible leaders were suggested, most of whom were former members of the local troop. The prospective group of Ventures already have in mind a project to build a log cabin headquarters for the local scout association, where all scout and cub records and equipment could be stored, and the scouts could work at useful projects.

Announce New Healing Substance: Shrinks Piles

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids, relieve itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most important of all—results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue.

Now Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

During the evening occasion was taken to present Bernard Bartier, retiring cubmaster, with a desk set inscribed with the wolf cub insignia in appreciation of the work he had done as cubmaster, and hope was expressed that they would be welcoming him back again soon.

The next meeting of the group was set for Nov. 27 at 8:30 p.m. at the Park Hall.

At the present time the Rutland group consists of two wolf cub packs and one boy scout troop. Wolf cub pack "A" has 27 boys, and the leaders are: Cubmaster, Hugh Fitzpatrick; assistants, James Kitaura, Mrs. Hugh Fitzpatrick and David Horning. The pack has 27 members and the meetings are held on Mondays. Cub pack "B" leaders are: Cubmaster

Bustling, That's The Word For Students At George Elliot

By SHARON MOTZ and CAROL THOMPSON

George Elliot has again completed another week of bustling activity. One club that has already begun some serious and diligent work is the drama club. They have started practicing for the Christmas drama production, Death of the Hired Man. We hope they will have many more hours of successful practice from now until the Christmas production.

The library club is active this year. They have held several hot dog sales and sock hops. We are grateful for the support the students have given this club in their activities.

The chess club is involved in its relaxing activities with chess games being held every noon.

The future teachers club has a fairly large membership this year. They held a meeting to decide that Karen Shumay and Betty Kupker, two Grade 12 members will attend a Future Teachers Conference at UBC in January. The club also has some good ideas for speakers and meetings in the future.

On Thursday, after school, many students were privileged to hear the folk singer Nancy Cecil from 100 Mile House. We spent a memorable time listening to her enjoyable and meaningful songs.

Turning to sports, on Saturday, our junior and senior boys volleyball teams were successful at a tournament at Kelowna. Wednesday night our senior and junior girls volleyball teams were also successful at a zone tournament held at our school.

This Saturday our school will be sponsoring a junior girls valley grasshockey tournament and a junior and senior boys volleyball tournament and a
